CITY CENTRE RADIO SYSTEM

Both Broadmead BID and Bristol City Centre BID have their own independent radio systems to support retail and hospitality businesses within each area and are in operation 24/7. The aspiration is to combine these systems linking businesses, security teams and rangers with each other and the Operations Centre.

BARBI are running training sessions on use of the radio system and DISC reporting platform.

LAUNCH OF BRISTOL WOMEN'S SAFETY CHARTER

Life in Bristol goes on beyond daylight hours, with many of us working, socialising and enjoying the city at night. And yet we know that being out at night can induce anxiety for many women, with most women surveyed having experienced some level of harassment.

This charter is the call to action for all organisations, large or small, to join in tackling gender inequality and make Bristol a fair and inclusive city, where everyone is welcome.

Both BARBI and 365Bristol have signed up to the charter.

Metro Mayor launches new jobs site

West of England jobseekers will be able to find out about the numerous rewarding opportunities across the region's hospitality sector thanks to a new website being launched last week by Metro Mayor Dan Norris. (At The Salamander - 3 John Street, Bath BA1 2JL)

"Jobs Connect" jobsconnectwest.co.uk was commissioned by the West of England Combined Authority, led by the Metro Mayor, and built by Bath-based software company Cognisess. It will connect local people to jobs with top hospitality and tourism employers in the region.

People looking to find jobs can create and upload a digital CV that will be shared with recruiters. Job seekers can search and apply for positions and test their skills through online games. Businesses can use the platform to list their current vacancies.

Officially launching "Jobs Connect" at The Salamander, the Metro Mayor will highlight just how many job opportunities there are at the region's pubs, restaurants, hotels and tourist attractions.
